Work/Life Balance

Work/Life Balance

'Maintaining a harmonious relationship between your work and personal life by consciously managing your time and energy to meet both professional and personal commitments while prioritising self-care and well-being.'

For example:

- meeting work deadlines whilst still having time for friends and hobbies.
- having sufficient time to eat well and sleep properly.
- not worrying about work and being able to switch off mentally when at home/ not working.

Work/Life Balance

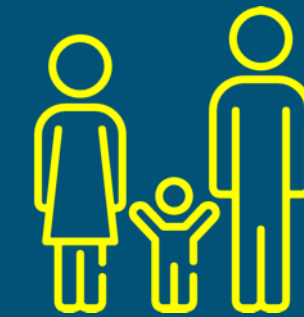

Work/Life Balance - “the division of one’s time and focus between working and family or leisure activities.”

66% of full-time workers in the US feel they do not have WLB in their lives.

Family Living Today, Feb 2018

35% of 9,600 millennial managers with children surveyed globally said it had become more difficult to manage WLB.

EY Global online survey, 2015

26% of work occurs outside regular hours.

RescueTime research on >50,000 workers, 2019

70% of employees read their emails while watching TV at home.

Adobe Research 2023 on 5,500 workers globally

41% of workers have missed important life events because of work commitments.

Scottish Widow’s Think Tank- the Centre for the Modern Family, UK, 2017

69% workers said their WLB improved once they began working remotely.

CIPD Report April 2023 based on survey of 2,166 working adults in UK

Work/Life Balance

 What are the main factors impacting your WLB?

- Recent Job or Career change.
- Heavy work duties.
- Increased work responsibilities.
- Increased home responsibilities (children, aged parents, illness of partner).
- Personal health problems.
- A demanding boss or team who expect you to be available 24/7.
- Lack of resources.

 What impact does this have on you and your loved ones?

- Stress -at home and at work.
- Arguments.
- Resentment – making one partner responsible for the lions share of childcare, elderly relative care, running of household, whilst working themselves.
- Prioritising one person's career over another.
- Being half-present – working on family holidays, in the evening, at weekends.
- Missing out on important events (sports day, prize-giving, early years of children).
- Relationship breakdown.

Taking Control

There are steps you can take to improve your work/life balance:

Mentalhealth.org.uk & Apollo Technical & Jeff Davison 2018

SELF-MANAGEMENT

Prioritise your health irrespective of how busy you are, take proper breaks at work.

TIME MANAGEMENT

Try to 'work smart, not long', prioritise and set appropriate goals.

MANAGE STRESS

Do a job you are passionate about – you will be more productive and less stressed.

SPEAK UP

Speak up when the expectations and demands of work are too much.

DELEGATE

Delegate tasks at work where possible.

SEPARATE

Separate work and home; keep to a routine at home, have a dedicated workspace and switch off when the working day is over.

MANAGE FREE TIME

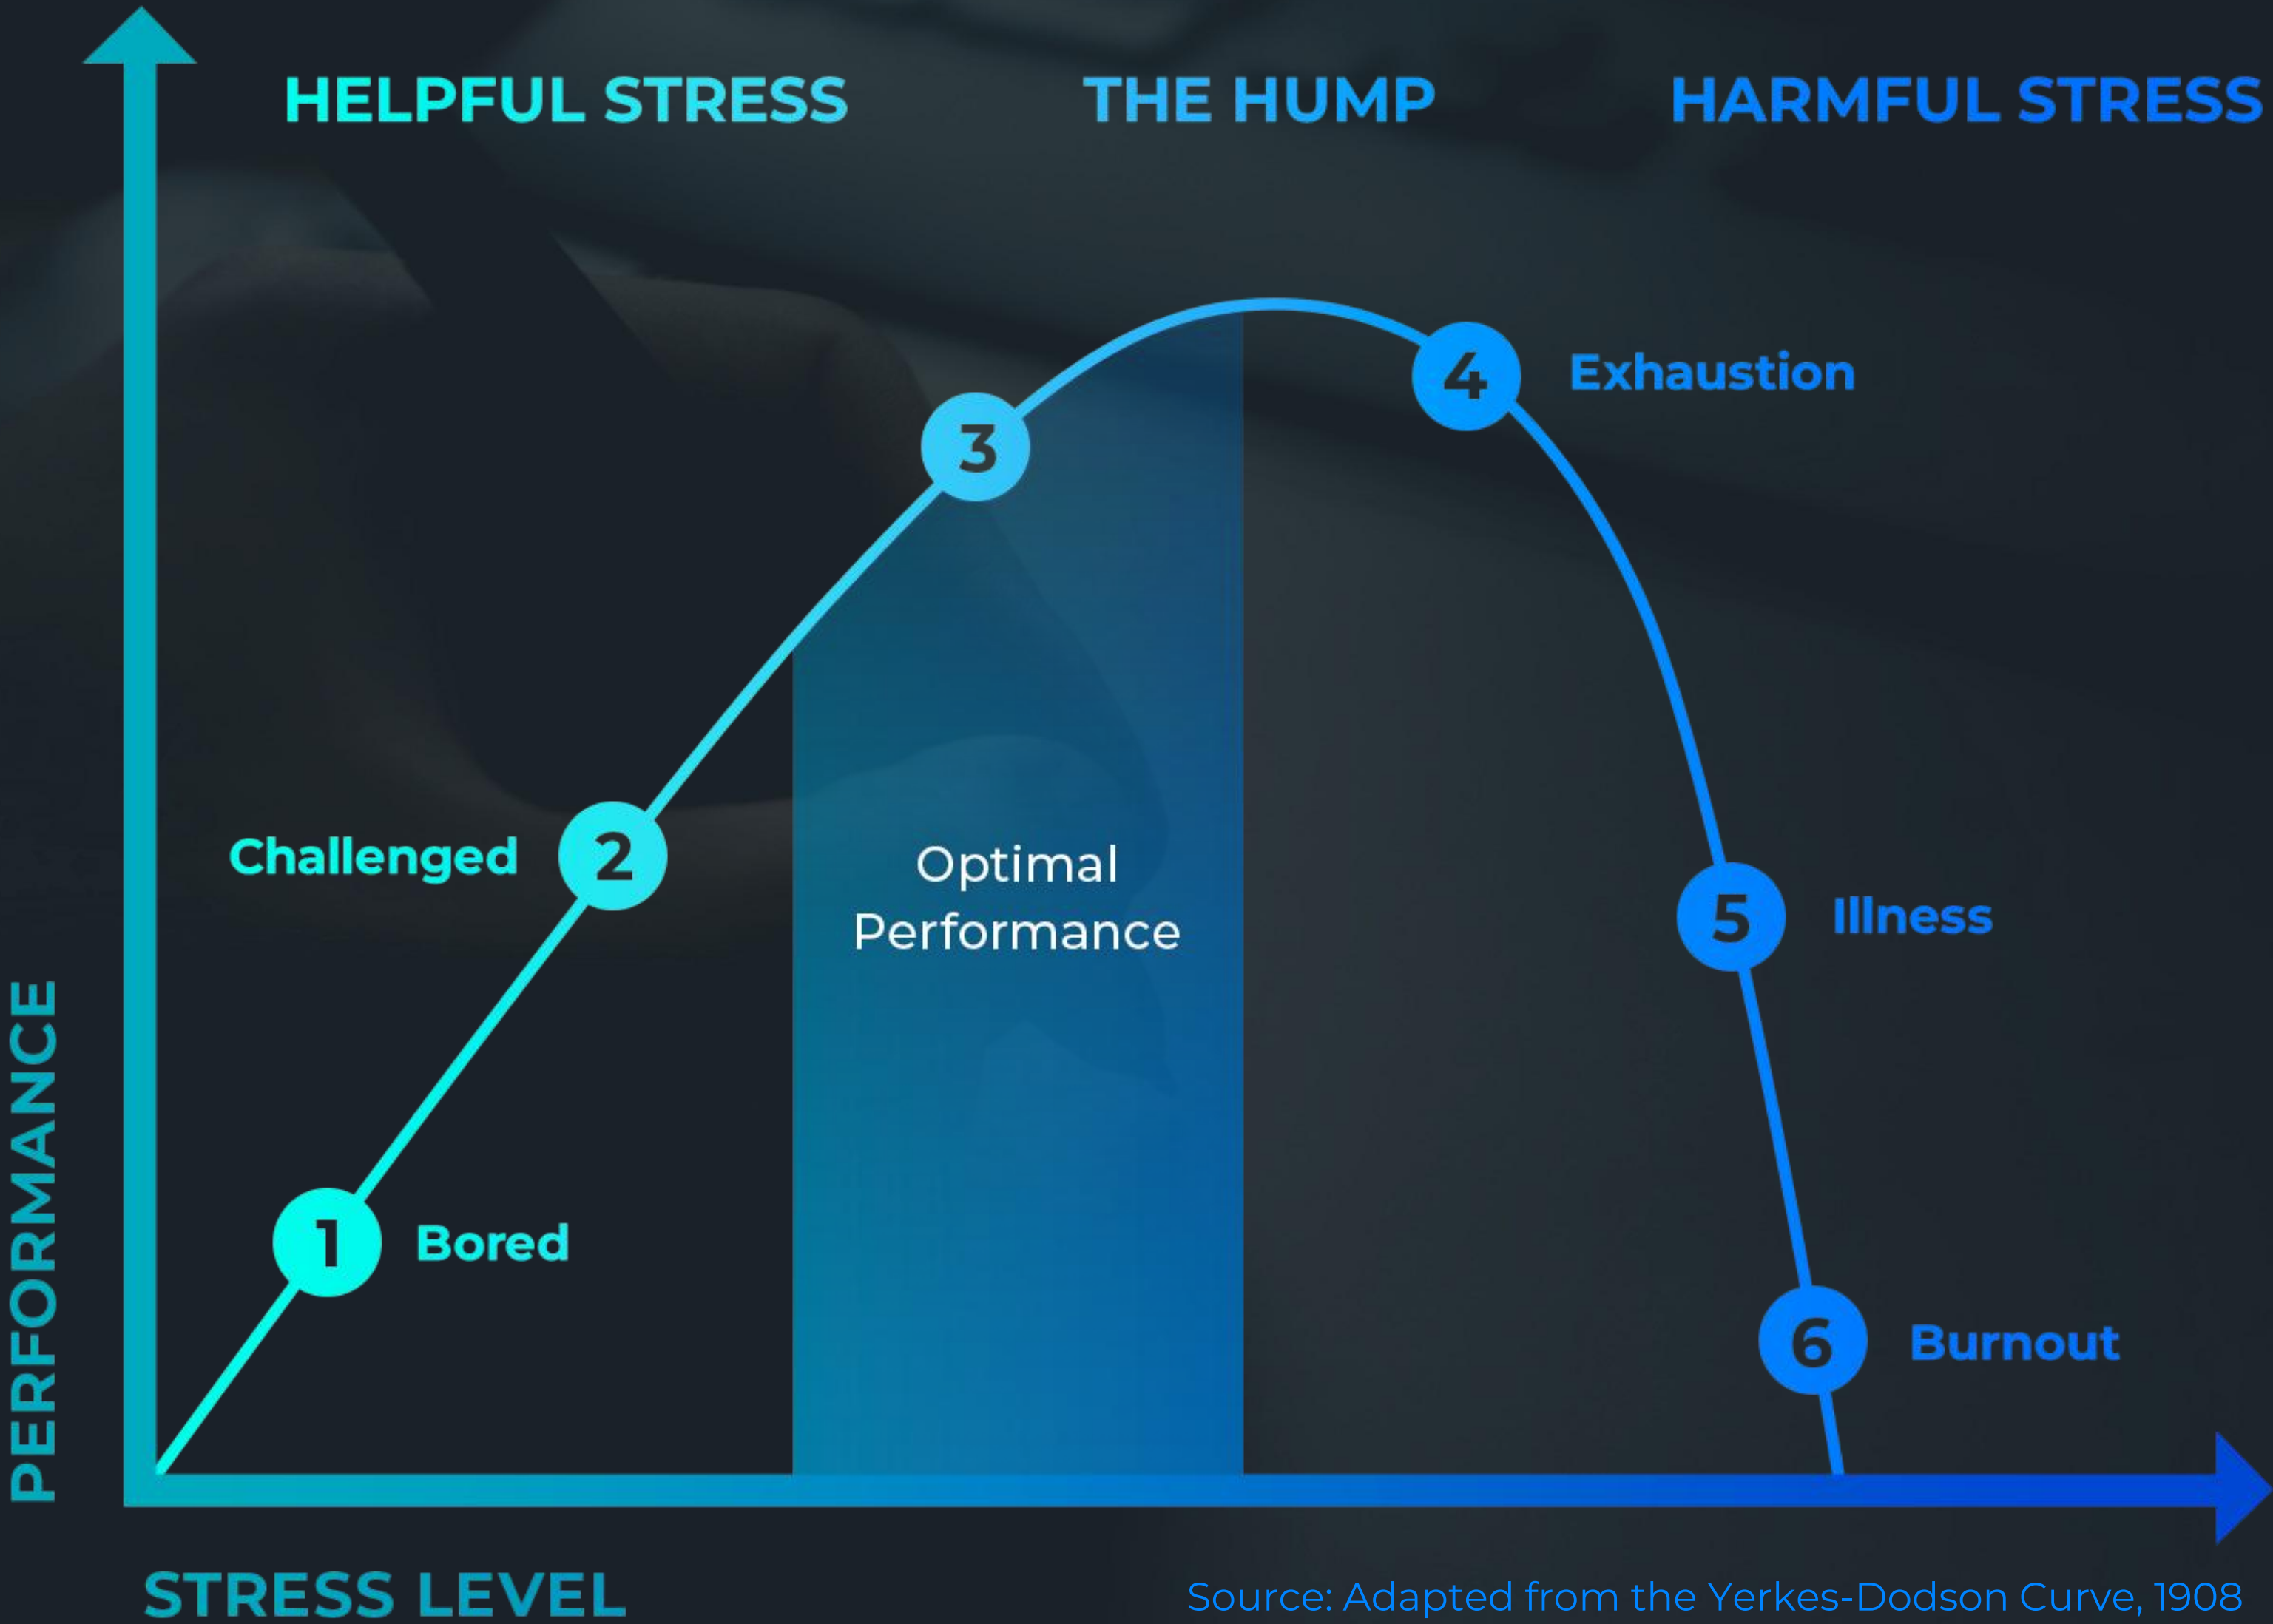

Manage leisure time and vary activities to avoid monotony.

SCHEDULE

Schedule quality time for family and friends, consider getting help with chores and childcare to create more spare time.

Individual Exercise: How to Improve Work/Life Balance

Assess your current WLB - is it unhealthy? The five-point checklist:

01

TAKE TIME TO REFLECT

What factors are causing unhappiness and stress and how does it affect your work and home life?

What are you prioritising and what are you sacrificing or losing out on?

02

CONSIDER YOUR FEELINGS

Are you happy and fulfilled or resentful and angry?

What needs to change?

03

REPRIORITISE

Is more family time or time to socialise more important than working late and at weekends?

What are you willing to sacrifice and for how long? Will you have regrets?

04

CONSIDER ALTERNATIVES

Consider which aspects of work and life could be different to align with your priorities.

05

MAKE CHANGES

Commit to changes that will positively impact your work/life balance

Remember – a good work-life balance requires continuous re-evaluation and adjustment as your circumstances and priorities evolve.

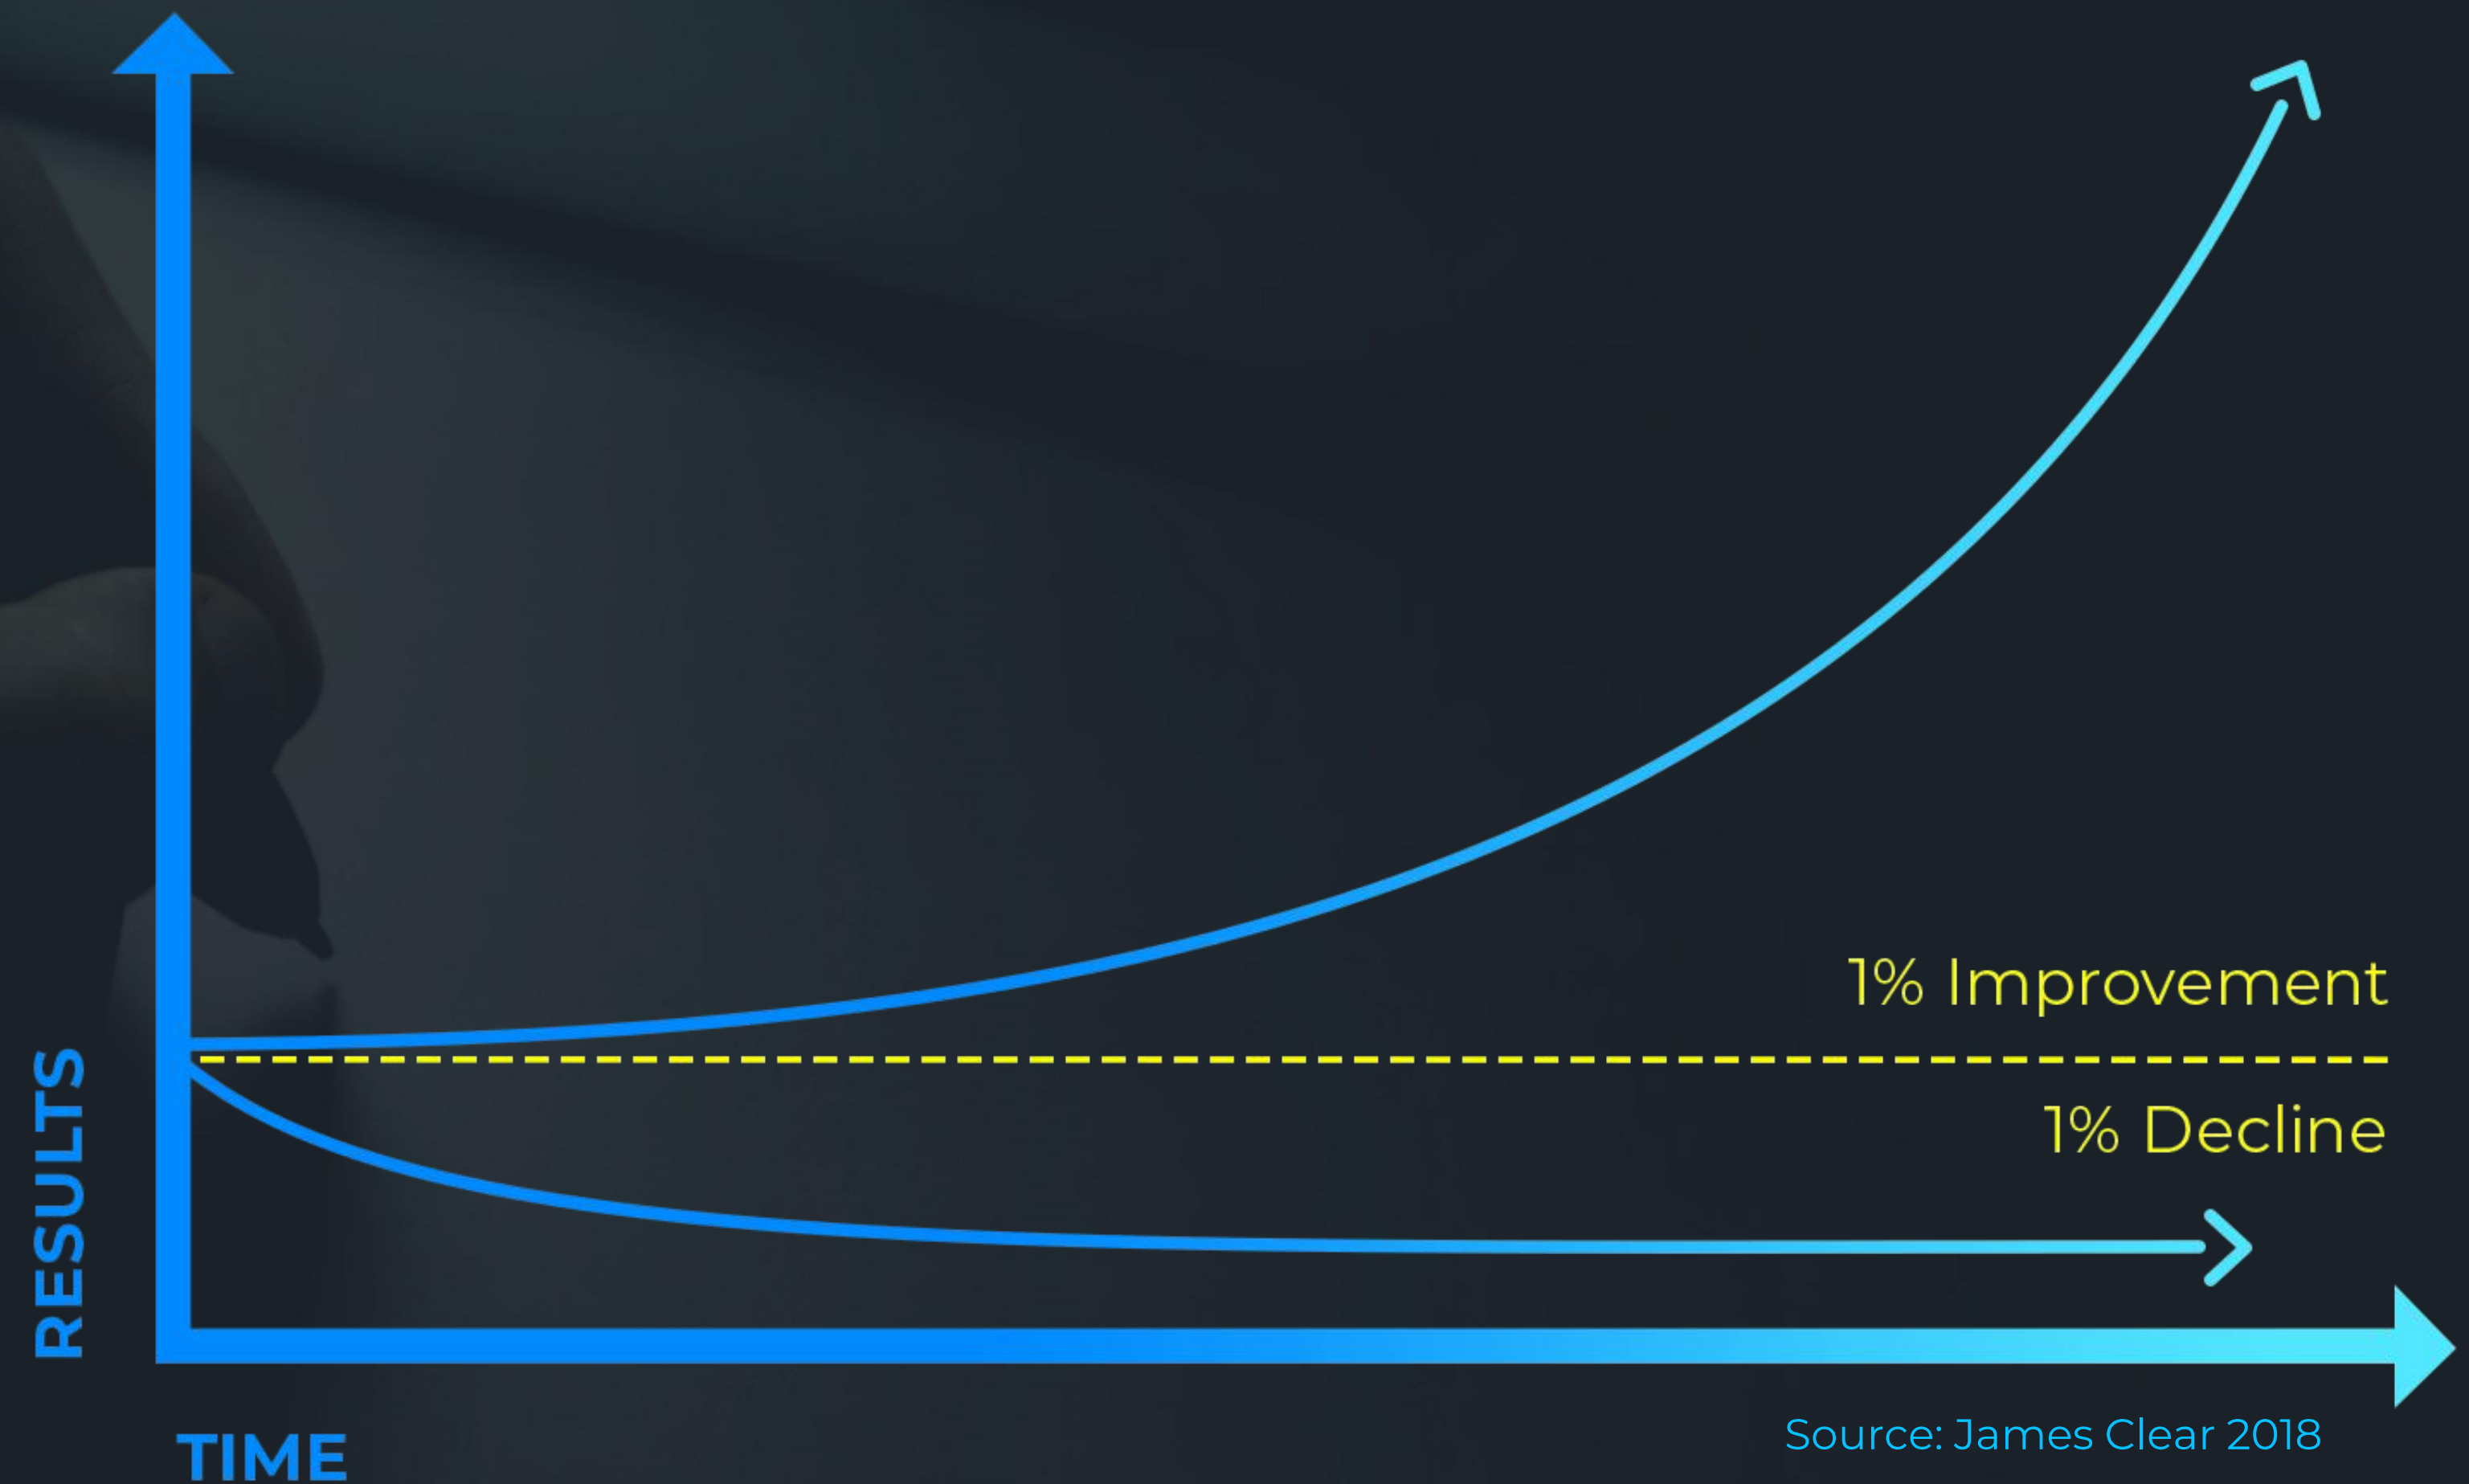

Harvard Business Review 2021

Changing Habits

1% BETTER EVERY DAY

1% better every day for 1 year $1.01^{365} = 37.78$

- We often convince ourselves that massive success requires massive action.
- But the effects of small changes have a compound impact over time.
- 1% improvement daily compounds to 37% on a yearly basis.
- Outcomes are a lagging measure of habits.

Making Progress

THE PLATEAU OF LATENT POTENTIAL

- We often think that progress should be linear and we become frustrated when nothing much changes after several weeks.
- Core reason why many people give up as they try to build new habits.
- Need to continue to work and break through the plateau – The Plateau of Latent Potential.
- All big things come from small beginnings.
