

EXERCISE 4

Using The Pomodoro Technique to Break Your Work into Focused Intervals

- 1 Set a timer for 25 minutes and work on a task without any distractions. This is one Pomodoro.
- 2 When the timer rings take a 5-minute break.
- 3 Repeat this process for 4 cycles.
- 4 At the end of the 4th period of focus work, take a break of 15-30 minutes.
- 5 Modify the focus time-period to suit your work style - 25 minutes may be too long or too short.

TIP - tracking how many pomodoros a task typically takes will aid future time-planning.
